Elan[®] Cox Solid

For coccidiosis challenges

Elan[®]Cox is a solid product designed to improve the resilience of birds against coccidiosis and secondary intestinal bacterial challenges. Elan[®]Cox is a combination of phytochemicals, herb and plant extracts for application in feed. The phytochemical ingredients have antioxidant, anti-inflammatory and immunomodulatory properties. The additional non-phytochemical components help the bird to deal with the consequences of intestinal stress. Preventive use of Elan[®]Cox during critical periods in the birds life optimizes production performance and reduces mortality.
